The project didn't run from the very first time because you misstyped lawyer.js file it should've been capital L .. this error may not be triggered on WindowsOs but on MacOs and Linux the filesystem is case sensitive so it will crash ... you need to fix that .... I can see you don't have a company model, you instead created SPC and SSC models which is wrong. You should create a company model which is having a field of type either SPC of SSC .... Make sure you understand that these are only 2 types of forms .. the company once established they all have the same informations ... only different types of forms when applying ... One more thing, you need to handle when the investor is updating the company's information the company must change status from being approved to being under review again ... good work
